

Hello L.O.

THE OFFICIAL NEWSLETTER OF THE CITY OF LAKE OSWEGO

Lake Grove Village Center Plan Open House, September 25, 6 to 8 p.m. Safeco Building, 4101 Kruse Way

The draft Lake Grove Village Center Plan and Code Amendments are products of almost three years of work by a citizen committee of neighborhood association representatives, business owners, and property owners along Boones Ferry Road. This followed a year-long study and series of workshops that generated initial ideas and concepts for the plan.

The plan aims to enhance existing commercial and residential areas by encouraging vibrant, attractive, and coordinated mixed use development. Features include a village commons, public plazas, enhanced pedestrian ways, and improvements to Boones Ferry Road that incorporate a landscaped center median, new signals, sidewalks, bike lanes, and additional crosswalks.

Draft code amendments are intended to enhance storefront design and compatibility between commercial development and adjacent low-density residential neighborhoods.

You can learn about the plan at the open house and provide comments through public hearings starting October 9 and continuing until November 13. Plan documents, background materials, and schedules are online at www.ci.oswego.or.us/plan/lgtc/lgtc.htm.

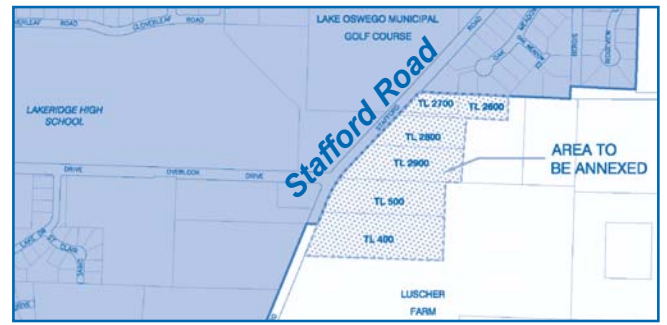

If you have questions, contact Denny Egner, Long Range Planning Manager, at 503-697-6576, or Paige Goganian, Associate Planner, at 503-675-3737.

Special Election on September 19

On September 19, Lake Oswego voters will decide on a measure authorizing the annexation of six contiguous properties along Stafford Road near the Overlook Drive intersection.

In accordance with the 1997 Luscher Farm Master Plan, the City is proposing to develop recreational facilities including a synthetic turf athletic field, a new dog park, and pathways. A public meeting will be held on September 13, at 6:30 p.m., in the Lakeridge High School Rotunda Room.

This election is separate from the General Election that will occur on November 7. For details, call City Recorder Robyn Christie at 503-675-3984.

Special Insert Inside This Issue

Clean Streams Community Forum
September 23, 9 a.m. - 1 p.m.
Adult Community Center, 505 G Ave.

Look inside this issue for information about a special event featuring valuable information about streams, roof care, natural gardening, green streets, rain gardens, lawn care, native plants and fish. You're invited to pick up some free native plants and peruse our storm water art display.

NEWS YOU CAN USE

New Interactive Neighborhood Map

There is a new resource available to those with Internet access. An online, interactive neighborhood map has been created by the City's Geographic Information Services staff.

Go to www.ci.oswego.or.us/plan/Neighborhoods/ and click on "Interactive Neighborhood Map." It allows you to click on a particular neighborhood to get a view of individual streets and lots.

While the old maps are also available online, this new option is easier to use and more detailed.

Get Outdoors to Help Restore

The City is partnering with the Three Rivers Land Conservancy and the Tryon Creek Watershed Council through the Starbucks 'Make Your Mark' Program to launch a restoration plan for Nettle Creek Natural Area. The 4-acre natural area is viable habitat for native plants and animals once invasive plant species are removed.

This fall, there are three restoration work parties at Nettle Creek: September 16, October 21, and November 18. All dates are on a Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. Your participation not only assists with habitat restoration, but helps raise money for environmental education and the purchase of native plants for restoration at the site.

For directions or details, call Volunteer Coordinator Annie Bergelin at 503-534-5742.

Even More to Love at the Market

The Farmers' Market is in full swing through October 14. Come and enjoy a bountiful harvest of sweet peppers, heirloom tomatoes, squash, corn, apples, pears, and hazelnuts. Adding to the fall ambience are some special seasonal vendors: Old House Dahlias, Paula's Pumpkin Patch, and Wandering Aengus Ciderworks.

Enjoy a variety of live music this fall, from the Zimbabwean Rhythms of Njuzu Mbira, to the smooth latin sounds of Alfredo Muro, and the sweet Irish vocals of Rose Laughlin.

September also means it's time for Millennium Marketplace, an arts and crafts fair held during the Farmers' Market from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Beginning on September 23, check out the latest creations from local artisans and crafters.

For more information on the Farmers' Market, go to www.ci.oswego.or.us/farmersmarket.

Respite Program Needs You

The Adult Community Center's Day Respite Program for individuals with a mild to moderate dementia is in need of volunteers. Each Thursday afternoon at 1 p.m., husbands, wives, and other caregivers bring their loved ones to the Center to enjoy four hours of social and recreational activities specially designed for them.

Volunteers help with the activities under the supervision of a staff Respite Specialist and do not provide any personal care. If you enjoy socializing, and are looking for a meaningful volunteer position, call Berta Derman at 503-675-6394.

Leaders Wanted

Recruitments are underway for the Community Forestry Commission (CFC), Development Review Commission, Historic Resources Advisory Board, and Library Advisory Board (LAB). Some positions have specific requirements; others must live inside the City's Urban Services Boundary.

The application deadline is September 15 for the CFC and LAB. Additional information is online at www.ci.oswego.or.us/council/boards.htm. If you have questions, stop by the Mayor's Office in City Hall, 380 A Avenue, or call 503-635-0236.

Cleaning Pipelines to Improve Flow and Capacity

The main sanitary sewer line serving most of the community, known as the lake interceptor, is critical infrastructure that most people never see. It may be out of sight, but it is not out of mind.

The City has contracted for the clearing of obstructions and debris from the main pipeline and trunk lines, which will improve flows and capacity while reducing the possibility of future overflows or spills. The work will be performed by Pipe Experts LLC, under subcontract to Brown and Caldwell, an environmental engineering firm.

Cleanouts are slated to begin mid-month and the work will result in increased activity in and around the west end of the lake and canals.

Every attempt will be made to minimize disruptions and to provide advance notice of possible impacts through the duration of the project.

The tentative schedule is:

WEST BAY LINES: Sept 11-15

MAIN CANAL LINES: Sept 18-22

BLUE HERON: Sept 25-29

The cleaning will improve the performance of the interceptor while planning to eventually replace the pipeline altogether continues.

If you have questions or would like additional information, call the new Lake Interceptor Hotline at 503-699-7466.

Community Center Open House

October 4, 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Safeco Insurance Building, 4101 Kruse Way

You are encouraged to stop by to discuss and provide feedback on the proposed library and recreation programs that are being considered by the Citizens Steering Committee for a new Community Center at the Safeco site. You'll hear what the committee has accomplished to date and see the road map for the immediate future.

If you can't make it, information is also available online at www.lakeoswegocommunitycenter.org.

Brant Williams, Director of Community Center Development, is available to meet with your neighborhood association or community organization to discuss the process and answer your questions. Call to set up a time at 503-635-6138 or email bwilliams@ci.oswego.or.us.

State Conference to Visit Downtown

When the League of Oregon Cities annual conference is held in Portland later this month, a group of attendees from across the state will be making a special trip to tour downtown Lake Oswego.

One of several mobile tour sites, the tour will focus on what the City has done to improve the downtown area by enhancing the pedestrian experience. Other tours will feature Hillsboro, Tigard, Milwaukie, Gresham, and Portland.

For more information about the conference or tour, go to www.orcities.org.

Tree Removal to Precede Restoration Work and Improvements

In mid-late September, a major surface water, habitat restoration, and transportation project at the intersection of Boones Ferry and Country Club Roads will begin with the removal of 51 trees.

In the short term, this very visible change in the appearance of the intersection heralds the longer term improvements that will stabilize the roadway, provide a sidewalk and bikeway connection where none exists now, improve water quality, enhance an existing wetland, and reduce erosion.

You can't see it while driving by, but erosion has taken its toll on the outfall pipes and stream channel, and it is now undermining tree roots and the roadway near the southeast corner of the intersection.

Due to the grades and elevations, 3000 cubic yards of fill material will need to be placed and compacted to stabilize the embankment. In some areas, as much as 8 feet of material will be needed to repair the eroded steam channel. This is the largest project site of the 10 storm outfall repairs being conducted this year.

More information about this project will be distributed as it becomes available. The Construction Hotline is updated regularly at 503-635-0261.

Erosion of the hillside on the site damaged the outfall and is undermining the roadway.

Noise and Crossing Issues Involving Trains

For well over a century, the railroad has been a part of the Lake Oswego community. With freight rail lines running through the middle of town, skirting neighborhoods and crossing our busiest roads, trains are nearly impossible to ignore and occasionally generate citizen concerns.

Whistle Noise: City staff has received calls about noise from train whistles at night. There is a federal requirement to sound the whistle at crossings and as needed to alert people or animals that a train is approaching.

An engineer can be cited or lose their job if they do not comply with this safety requirement. Although the City has no purview over this issue, it has notified Portland and Western Railroad about the citizen concerns and its staff has assured the City that whistles will not be used excessively.

Trains have a long history in Lake Oswego

Blocked Crossings: Trains occasionally stop in a location that blocks a crossing. While the railroad aims to avoid this practice when possible, Oregon Administrative Rules specify that a train should not block traffic for more than 10 continuous minutes between 6 a.m. and 10 p.m. or 15 minutes between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. Non-justified blockages are punishable by a fine of up to a maximum of $3,000 per occurrence.

Violations can be reported by calling the Oregon Department of Transportation's Rail Division at 866-628-8867, or download a form at www.oregon.gov/ODOT/RAIL/docs/BlockForm.pdf.

A New and Improved George Rogers Park

September 30, 10 a.m. to 12 p.m., lower level of park

George Rogers Park is a 29-acre historic park located near downtown Lake Oswego, at the confluence of the Willamette River and Oswego Creek. The history of the site is integral to the community's origins as a pioneer industrial town, with its prominent location on the river and its rich natural resources. Because of its location, history, and popularity, George Rogers Park is a central part of Lake Oswego's open space system.

An arbor now serves as a gateway to Willamette River views and new amenities.

These attributes have kept people coming back to the park for decades, and now it is better than ever.

Help us "re-dedicate" George Rogers Park at this morning event. We'll have an ironworkers' breakfast consisting of buttermilk pancakes, berries, bacon, and coffee for $3.

Presentations will be made by Mayor Judie Hammerstad, City Manager, Doug Schmitz, and other invited guests. Park and furnace tours will be led by knowledgeable historians and docents. You can peruse a display of panels describing the history, what we're doing now, and what future plans hold.

With stunning views of the river, a foot-bridge and hiking trails, sandy beaches and swimming, barbecues, grassy open spaces, colorful landscaping, and the historic iron furnace, there's much to enjoy.

New Sculptures Unveiled September 20

The Gallery Without Walls, formerly known as Arts Downtown, is an award-winning program involving the City, Foundation for the Arts, and artists that puts first-rate sculptures alongside City streets and sidewalks. Celebrate the arrival of the newest outdoor sculptures on display throughout Lake Oswego. There will be 21 new sculptures, including some on Boones Ferry Road.

On September 20, a reception sponsored by Umpqua Bank will be held at FiveSpice from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. Friends of the arts are invited to meet the artists, enjoy drinks and appetizers, then stroll the streets at 6:30 p.m. as new additions to the rotating collection are unveiled.

For more information, call Foundation for the Arts Executive Director Elaine Harper at 503-675-3738.

Celebrating Twenty Years of Art Literacy

September 16, 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., Millennium Plaza Park

If you've had a student in Lake Oswego schools, you know about Art Literacy. Volunteers have been teaching children about artists and their work for the past 20 years. Over 400 volunteers in every elementary and junior high school use slides and hands-on activities to bring to life the works and art of artists and cultures.

The Resource Team, a five-member group that is responsible for guiding, facilitating and continually improving the Art Literacy program, is hosting the Anniversary Celebration. The event is open to the community and all are welcome. Current and former volunteers are especially encouraged to come by, say hello and be recognized for making the program the success it is today.

Be sure to bring your children as there will be art activities for them, of course. At 11 a.m., grab a fork and plate and join in the festivities as we cut the anniversary cake.

Third Annual Boones Ferry Days and Last of Summer Fun Fest

September 24, noon to 4 p.m., Lake Grove Elementary

Join your neighbors for an afternoon of fun, games, live entertainment, clowns, crafts, food and prizes.

There'll be hot air balloon rides, carnival games for kids, and performances by the Lake Oswego Academy of Dance, the Rogue Bluegrass Band and Centerline. The Humane Society will bring its pet adoption van, the Lake Oswego Fire Department will display its antique engine, and Providence will provide emergency ID cards.

Kids, bring your bikes and pets for the "Bike, Trike and Pet Parade." Prizes will be given for the biggest and smallest pets and for the best costumes. Food will be available from local restaurants, there will be door prizes, and best of all, there's no admission charge!

Presented by The Lake Grove Neighborhood Association and Lake Oswego Parks and Recreation.

Hundreds gathered at last year's Boones Ferry Days for family-friendly festivities.

What You Should Know About Coyotes in Lake Oswego

Throughout the community, Lake Oswego has habitat that supports wildlife. It is not uncommon to see coyotes, as they are one of the many species found in our natural areas.

Coyotes are wild dogs that typically weigh 20 to 35 pounds. They resemble a small German Shepherd, with pointed ears and a narrow muzzle. Healthy coyotes may look like skinny dogs with matted fur. They have a black-tipped tail, which they carry in a down position when they run. Dogs run with their tails higher.

Coyotes are generally shy and wary of humans. They eat small rodents and other pest species, but may also eat small outdoor pets and garden crops, and raid garbage cans. To coexist peacefully, the City offers the following recommendations:

Do not feed domestic pets outside.

Cat or dog food on porches or decks will attract coyotes and make them accustomed to being near people. To protect your pets, keep them inside your house or fenced yard, especially at night. Coyotes are not strictly nocturnal. They are active in the early morning and late evening and occasionally during the day.

Instruct children to keep their distance. Coyotes are wild animals and, like other animals, they can bite if they feel threatened.

For more information or to report a sighting or change in behavior, go to www.ci.oswego.or.us/about-lo/faq.htm. You can also call our Community Service Officers at 503-635-0238 or Natural Resources Coordinator Lisa Hamerlynck at 503-697-6575.

Emergency Preparedness

Lake Oswego is fortunate to have excellent emergency services, but we can all do our part to plan for emergencies or disasters. Linda Swift from the American Red Cross will discuss general preparedness, including how to put together an emergency pack. Wed., Sept. 13, 10-11:30 a.m. There is no cost, but please call to sign up.

Tips for Improving Your Listening Experience

Many people with hearing impairment falsely believe that the communications problems they encounter are solely a result of their hearing loss. Carolyn Landsverk, Education Manager for the National Center for Rehabilitative Auditory Research, offers strategies designed to help those with hearing loss deal with communications breakdowns. Program is free and live-captioned on Tuesday, Sept. 12, 2-3:30 p.m. Free hearing aid maintenance from 1:30 until 2 p.m.

SEPTEMBER PROGRAMS FOR ADULTS

Jose Castro

Tuesday, September 5, from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Costa Rican classical guitarist Jose Castro will play selections from the traditional to the contemporary as he imbues romantic pieces with technical expertise. Enjoy this lively performance of Latin music.

Karen Karbo, Award Winning Portland Author

Tuesday, September 19, at 7 p.m.

Karen Karbo joins us for the Library's Third Tuesday Author Series. Karbo writes about relationships with compassion balanced with side-splitting humor. She is the author of three novels and a memoir, all of which were named New York Times Notable Books. She has also been recognized with People Magazine Critic's Choice, the Satellite Sisters Radio Book Club, and the Oregon Book Award for Creative Nonfiction.

Book Groups

The 'Whadda Ya Readin?' book group meets at the Library on the second Wednesday of each month at 4 p.m. The group sits around a table and talks about books they've recently read. It's easy, attendees get great reading tips, and best of all, you only have to read the books you want to read! The next meeting will be Wednesday, September 13, at 4 p.m.

Fiction Allsorts is a short story discussion group that meets on the third Thursday of every month at 10:30 a.m. Every month, the librarian selects and reads a short story, followed by a discussion. What could be easier? Listeners are encouraged to bring their knitting or other handcrafts! Meet us on September 21 in the Library Conference Room.

For details, contact Adult Services Librarian Kiera Taylor at 503-697-6581 or ktaylor@lincc.lib.or.us.

SEPTEMBER PROGRAMS FOR CHILDREN

Students Invited to Register for Library Cards

September is library card sign-up month and your library is inviting all students in the community who don't have library cards to sign up for one. Students in local schools will find library card application flyers in their school information packets.

All who register for a new library card during September are entered into a prize drawing. Students can also register for a tour of the Library to learn about the resources available to library card holders. Check out our books, graphic novels, magazines, audiobooks, movies, compact discs, computer software, and online databases. Tours may be arranged by calling 503-697-6580.

Storytimes

Please note new times and age groups.

Preschool Storytime (three to five years old)

Tuesdays and Thursdays at 10:30 a.m.

Preschool Storytime with Jackie (three to five yrs old)

Tuesday, September 26, at 10:30 a.m.

Features her original puppet show, "Mary Had a Little Lamb."

Baby Storytime (birth through 18 months)

Special Five-Week Series:

Sing and Sign Playtime (birth through two years old)

Mondays at 10:15 a.m. on September 11, 18, 25, and October 2, 9

Even before babies are able to speak, they can communicate wants and needs through sign language. Families with babies from birth through two years old are invited to attend a fun, interactive workshop that incorporates American Sign Language into theme-oriented play activities. The series is geared for families who have done some signing, but it's also a great chance for beginning signers to get their feet wet.

Preschool Craft Program

Create a Dancing Owl (ages three to five)

Tuesday, Sept. 26, and Thurs., Sept. 28 at 11 a.m.

Registration is required, please call 503-697-6580.

Young Rembrandts Drawing Classes (grades 1-5)

Tuesdays from 4 to 5 p.m. on September 12, 19, 26, and October 3, 10, and 17

Drawing is a learnable skill that gives children a tool to express their creativity. Young Rembrandts drawing classes teach them how to draw using an innovative step-by-step drawing method. The sessions help develop concentration, fine motor skills, writing readiness, visual discrimination, and spatial organization in a fun environment. Registration is required, please call 503-697-6580.

Second Saturday Special:

Meet Stephanie Bauer (ages four to eight)

Saturday, September 9, at 11 a.m.

Children's book illustrator Stephanie Bauer presents a program that includes an interactive reading, a fascinating lesson about color, a color wheel game, and a color wheel flower craft. Currently a full-time artist, Bauer's art has appeared on a wide variety of formats, including picture books, greeting cards, posters, floor puzzles, and growth charts to canvas reproductions and a Baby Einstein video.

Registration is required, please call 503-697-6580.

SEPTEMBER PROGRAM FOR TEENS

Manga Artists Gathering

Monday, September 18, from 4 to 5:30 p.m.

Manga art enthusiasts in grades 7-12 are welcome to share their art work, techniques, and ideas with fellow manga artists. This gathering offers students the chance to meet and work with other talented artists with similar interests. Participants are encouraged to bring in their finished pieces as well as works in progress. Manga drawing books, paper, and pencils are provided. Snacks are made possible by the Lake Oswego Junior Women's Club.
