Why Choose Lake Oswego for Film/Photo Locations?

The City of Lake Oswego has been the filming location for several movies, a television series, a children's video production and several commercials. The reasons for selecting the City of Lake Oswego are varied: we have wonderful scenery, including lots of large trees, mature landscaping, and a lake; we are close to the Portland International Airport (15 miles), and the Willamette Valley, the Oregon coast and Mt. Hood, and we have a desirable location between Interstate 5 and the Willamette River.

Films and Other Media Presentations Produced in Lake Oswego

Some of the movies filmed partially in Lake Oswego include:

- "Dead By Sunset" (1995, based on true-crime book by Ann Rule);
- "The Favor" (made in 1991, released in 1994 -- a romantic comedy starring Elizabeth McGovern, Harley Jane Kozak, Bill Pullman, and Brad Pitt); "Bandits" (Fall 2000, a Bruce Willis and Billy Bob Thornton crime drama).
- "Extraordinary Measures " (2009, a Harrison Ford and Brandon Fraiser drama).

The television series filmed partially in Lake Oswego was "The Nowhere Man," a Disney production.

Lake Oswego has also been the site for a number of personal, commercial, and industrial photo shoots.

Do You Need to Obtain a Film/Photo Permit?

All persons or legal entities shall obtain a filming permit prior to filming motion pictures, commercials or videotaped productions within the City limits (private or public locations). This requirement shall not apply to films made by amateurs or to the filming of news events by accredited representatives of news agencies.

Streets and Rights-of-Way. A City Film/Photo Permit is used to help address impacts to the public right-of-way, such as:

- street is to be closed,
- traffic re-routed,
- flaggers are used to control the movement of traffic, or

- equipment or personnel are placed within the public right-of-way.

(Note: the public right-of-way extends beyond the paved or traveled surface of a roadway to the adjacent private property boundaries.)

Parks and Other City Property. A City Film/Photo Permit and Site Use Agreement is also needed to use a city park or other city property. The park or other city property is "used" for film purposes when: the film set / location is within the city park or other city property; the city park or other city property is used for storage (including temporary storage); the city park or other location is used as an identifiable backdrop in a scene. As the owner of the property, permission must be obtained before conducting any commercial activities on city property, including parks and public open space areas.
