Input Sought on July 10 for Oswego Lake Interceptor

The City Council recently received a recommendation from the City Engineer to select an in-lake buoyant gravity system to replace the current Oswego Lake Interceptor. The Council’s final decision will come after a public hearing on July 10, at 6 p.m. in the Council Chambers at City Hall. You are encouraged to attend and share your views.

Compared to the around-the-lake pumping option, the in-lake buoyant gravity system is less expensive to construct and maintain, has lower annual financial risk, fewer easement and right-of-way needs, is less disruptive to traffic and residents, and has a lower risk of failure.

Three important issues, with identical requirements regardless of which option is selected, do not need to be decided at this time. Those include access to Oswego Lake, the duration and timing of a lake drawdown, and the best way to finance and pay for the project.

Access to the lake is required for construction and the City is meeting with property owners of potential access points to secure the locations which will allow work to be conducted most efficiently and minimize impacts to nearby properties.

Drawdown of Oswego Lake is necessary to efficiently and economically replace sewer pipes in the west main lake and canals. A 16-foot drawdown will prevent stirring up sediments and save money. Spreading the drawdown over two 8-month periods and refill in between adds more than $3 million. No drawdown would increase the project costs by $10 million or more.

The City and the Lake Oswego Corporation are working on drawdown specifics.

Financing can be accomplished through either revenue or general obligation bonds. Revenue bonds are repaid through utility bills. General obligation bonds are typically repaid through property taxes but utility billing may be a possibility. Given current estimates, a 20-year revenue bond would increase the sewer portion of utility bills by 10% a year from today’s average of $326 to $768 in 10 years. The GO bond cost for an average home (assessed property value of $300,000) would be about $473 per year.

General obligation bonds can typically have lower interest rates and require voter approval.

For more information, visit the project website www.lakeinterceptor.com or contact Joel Komarek, City Engineer, 503 697 6588 or email jkomarek@ci.oswego.or.us.

Citizens Help Identify Clean Streams Projects

The Clean Streams Plan, which is currently underway, will be a guiding framework for how the City deals with surface water management issues in the coming years. This spring, Clean Streams project team members met with interested citizens to talk about drainage basin characteristics and runoff management issues. The team shared assessment findings at the meetings and discussed proposed project approaches for each basin.

Community members suggested a number of concepts for the Clean Streams Plan. Among those were:

• Balance natural system solutions and engineered or piped solutions.
• Use regulation and/or incentives to improve private property participation.
• Place emphasis on retaining runoff at the individual property or block level.

The City is proud to introduce Jordan Wheeler as the inaugural Robert Kincaid Memorial Intern. Jordan graduated from the University of Washington with a bachelor's degree in political science and is currently a graduate student at Portland State University, studying Public Administration. This fall, Jordan will graduate and hopes to become a city manager one day. “This is a great opportunity for me to gain on-the-job experience to prepare for a career in city management,” Jordan said. “It also allows me to integrate what I have learned in the Public Administration program to practice.”

One of the many projects Jordan will work on during his internship at City Hall is an employee survey for the City’s Human Resources Department. To learn more about the Kincaid Memorial Internship or make a donation, call the Citizen Information Center at 503-635-0257.

City Welcomes New Intern

Did you know many dog owners rarely pick up after their dogs? With an estimated 8,000 dogs in Lake Oswego, about 337 tons of dog waste is generated each year. When it rains, dog waste gets washed down storm water drains and into our waterways which has harmful effects on the freshwater organisms that keep our watersheds healthy.

Here are some helpful hints to keep your neighborhood and the environment clean.

Scop it: Soon after it appears, scoop it, bag it and place it in the trash, to remove it from the environment.

Loop it: Flushing is a highly desirable method of disposal. Don’t flush if you are on a septic system. The high volume of hair and ash in pet waste can interfere with septic system functions and clog drain fields.

Don’t compost or bury it: This may seem like a practical idea, but it will not kill harmful bacteria and does not prevent pet waste from getting into waterways. High temperatures are required to kill E. coli, Salmonella, Giardia and other bacteria, which can survive for months in water or soil. Roundworms can survive four years in soil.

License your dog: If your residence is within the City of Lake Oswego’s boundaries, then State law requires you to obtain a dog license from the City.

Antique and Collectible Faire

The fourth annual Lake Oswego Antique and Collectible Faire will be held on August 5, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Millennium Plaza Park. This year, the Faire features more than 50 vendors, live entertainment, food court and an antique fire truck display.

Discover quality furniture, jewelry, linens, knick-knacks and more! An adventure awaits the fun-loving treasure hunter.

For more information, or if you would like to be a vendor, contact Kathy Kern at 503-675-3983 or k kern@ci.oswego.or.us.

Be Water Smart This Summer

Remember these simple tips to save water and money while keeping a healthy lawn this summer.

• Water one-inch per week (one tana can is worth as all your lawn needs)
• Plant natives—they require less water and fertilers
• Water in the morning or at dusk to prevent evaporation
• Set your lawn mower higher for deeper roots
• Use compost to improve soil and retain water
• Use organic or slow release fertilizers

Get more water saving tips on the City website at: www.ci.oswego.or.us/maintain/conserve.htm

Tree Permits

To help protect the natural setting in Lake Oswego, a tree removal permit is required for any tree within the City limits that measures five inches or greater in diameter at four and a half feet from the ground. This includes trees on private property, trees in open spaces, and trees on roadsides, as well as dead, dying, and diseased trees. If you intend to remove a tree, check with Planning to see what type of permit is required for your location. Contact the Planning Department at 503-635-0290 or go to www.ci.oswego.or.us/planning/Tree/default.htm

Remember to Wear a Bike Helmet

A bike helmet can save a child from a serious head injury in a fall or collision.

Oregon law states, “anyone under the age of 16 riding a bike in any public place (streets, roads, sidewalks, etc.) must wear bicycle helmets labeled ANSI and/or Snell approved.”

A bike helmet reduces your risk of serious head injury by at least 85 percent in most crashes. If you ride, wear a helmet!

For more information, visit, http://www.oregon.gov/DHHS/Ph/PubHealth/bikehelmets.shtm

Pick Up After Your Pet and Protect the Environment

Flush it: Flushing is a highly desirable method of disposal. Don’t flush if you are on a septic system.

Don’t compost or bury it: This may seem like a practical idea, but it will not kill harmful bacteria and does not prevent pet waste from getting into waterways. High temperatures are required to kill E. coli, Salmonella, Giardia and other bacteria, which can survive for months in water or soil. Roundworms can survive four years in soil.

License your dog: If your residence is within the City of Lake Oswego’s boundaries, then State law requires you to obtain a dog license from the City.
Community Center Public Forums Held

The Citizens Steering Committee held two Public Forums on May 30 and 31 to receive feedback about its draft recommendations for the proposed Lake Oswego Community Center.

Approximately 120 residents attended the forums and provided 48 oral and written comments to the Committee. Many comments included praise for the City Council and the Steering Committee for the vision and the recommended plan for the community center. Several liked its multi-generational aspect. Others mentioned the need in Lake Oswego for the types of program spaces provided in the plan, particularly pools and a larger library. Some related concerns for the overall cost of the project and what was viewed as a lack of need for the types of program spaces provided in the plan. Several questioned the appropriateness of the City purchasing the property and spending funds on the project without prior voter approval.

For more information about the project and to view the Steering Committee’s recommendation to the City Council, go to the project website at www.lakeoswego-communitycenter.org.

On Monday, June 11, Council received the Committee’s report in a study session held at the West End Building. Councilors expressed their gratitude to the Steering Committee for their dedication and hard work on the proposed design. For more information about the proposed Lake Oswego Community Center, contact Brant Williams at 503-635-6138 or bwilliams@ci.oswego.or.us.
