Do You Have a Hot Tub?
When you drain your hot tub or pool, what do you do with the water?
This water contains a lot of bacteria and chemicals, including chlorine, which can negatively impact the environment.
Under no circumstances should this water be discharged into the storm water system. If access to a sanitary sewer manhole is not available, water can be drained into the sanitary sewer manhole. If access to a sanitary sewer manhole is available, water should go into the sanitary sewer system. Water contaminated with oil and grease should not be drained into the sanitary sewer system because it can affect neighbors.

And the Survey Says...
The City’s 2008 Community Attitudes Survey was conducted in April. The Survey showed that while Lake Oswego residents are very satisfied with quality of life and City services, they concern about water/sewer, street maintenance, and traffic management.
The Survey reinforced the City’s support for community events and development in downtown Lake Oswego stating these are positive and contribute to livability. Services that City residents believe are most important (police, fire, and library) were also given high satisfaction marks. Although a majority of those surveyed approved of the current direction provided by City Council, there was concern over the handling of the purchase of the West End Building.

Residents were also asked questions about transportation alternatives and water conservation. Those surveyed were in support of extending the Portland streetcar to Lake Oswego and agreed that the City should implement a water pricing system based on usage. The Survey provides information that will help City officials and staff make decisions and policy decisions that reflect the needs and desires of the City’s residents. Specific objectives of the research included:
- Ascertain the current level of satisfaction with the quality of life offered by Lake Oswego.
- Assess resident opinions on the importance and quality of services offered by the City.
- Investigate attitudes toward key policy issues that the City Council will be addressing in the near future.

The Survey, which built upon previous surveys conducted in 1996, 1998, 2000, 2003, and 2005, was conducted by Campbell DeLong Resources, Inc., and involved a random sample of 400 Lake Oswego residents. (Thank you for your participation!) The Survey is available online at www.ci.oswego.or.us or by calling the Citizen Information Center at 503-635-0257.

Lectures, displays, and demonstrations featuring the techniques of this art form are also scheduled throughout the three-day Festival.

At the Lakewood Center for the Arts, several different art exhibits will be featured. The largest exhibit is the Visual Arts Open Show with over 1,000 pieces of art submitted by artists from all over the region. In addition, the Festival also presents a special juried exhibit of fine artwork as well as a series of hands-on Avenue; it’s The Festival Art Park located with the Lake Oswego School District to present a high quality K-12 exhibit and the Lake Oswego Foundation for the Arts to provide the Lake Oswego Arts Chronicle, the juried visual art exhibit.

Foothills Park Update

Construction of the Foothills Park Boat Dock will begin this summer and the first step, which begins in June, will be the demolition of approximately 400 feet of existing old industrial dock and pilings that exist at Foothills Park. Installation of the new gangway and dock is expected mid-summer, since both have to be custom made and shipped to the site.

Approved by the City Council on January 8, the dock will provide boaters the opportunity to stay up to three nights while visiting the City. The new 272-foot-long concrete dock will be designed for boats up to 40 feet in length.

Also, to alleviate concerns raised by the National Marine Fisheries Service and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the dock will be designed so that a minimum of twenty feet of water exists below the dock for fish habitat.

The dock is expected to be open for use in Spring of 2009. The dock will provide visitors another opportunity to explore and enjoy Foothills Park, the river, and Lake Oswego’s downtown area.

Financing Options for Interceptor Sewer

As designs are finalized for the Oswego Lake Interceptor Sewer replacement, City Council will consider financing options. Total present worth cost estimates for the project are approximately $100 million. This figure includes initial construction costs along with the 75-year life expenses for replacing worn components and on-going system maintenance.

Financing can be accomplished through revenue or general obligation (GO) bonds, or a hybrid of the two. Revenue bonds are repaid through utility bills. General obligation bonds are typically repaid through property taxes. General obligation bonds usually have slightly lower interest rates and require voter approval. Revenue bonds can be approved by the City Council without voter approval.

Given current cost estimates, a 20-year revenue bond would gradually increase the sewer portion of utility bills by 10% a year from today’s average of $326 per year to $768 per year in 10 years. The general obligation bond cost for an average home (assessed property value of $300,000) would be about $474/year. This property tax increase would occur all at once the first year and would not increase over time.

Although general obligation bonds are typically repaid through property taxes, repayment through utility billing may be a possibility. This provision allows a hybrid approach, utilizing the lower interest rates of a GO bond with repayment provided through utility bills.
