

Hello L.O.

THE OFFICIAL NEWSLETTER OF THE CITY OF LAKE OSWEGO

Community Center Uses Starting to Take Shape

The Lake Oswego Community Center Steering Committee hosted a public workshop on October 4 to seek public input on the preliminary program showing what a center might include. Over 180 residents of all ages attended. Two-thirds of participants said they supported the community center proposal "as-is" or with some modifications.

The preliminary program includes uses such as a library, recreation and aquatics, community spaces and administrative offices/building support.

Frequently expressed themes included the following:

- Keeping the existing Library and Adult Community Center is a priority for many.
- The multi-generational concept offers broad appeal.
- Citizens want more information on project costs; some are concerned the center will cost too much.
- Tennis players would like to see tennis courts included in the plan.
- Accessibility of the Safeco site for pedestrians/bicycles needs improvement.
- There is support for most project elements.

The Steering Committee is addressing the issues raised at the workshop and will consider capital and operating costs for the project in the next few months.

For more details about the workshop, or additional opportunities to weigh in on the proposed community center, visit the project website at www.lakeoswego-communitycenter.org.

Lake Oswego's Finances Upgraded to AAA

Lake Oswego is now the only city in Oregon to hold the highest ratings from both Standard and Poor's and Moody's, putting it among an exclusive handful of communities nationwide.

Standard and Poor's and Moody's are the top two independent firms that review the finances and financial management practices of companies and organizations worldwide. The agencies periodically update credit ratings and with this renewal, they focused on the City's financial management, investments, current and future debt levels, and debt management policies and procedures. Much like an individual's credit rating, a high bond rating is an indication and affirmation of solid fiscal management and accountability.

Having a good rating pays dividends in the form of lower interest rates on borrowed money. Since the rating upgrades last month, the City has refinanced $6.6 million in bonds at 3.675%, saving an estimated $434,748 in future interest costs.

Remember to Vote by November 7

The November General Election ends at 8 p.m. on November 7. Postmarks do not count, so be sure your mailed ballot will be received by the deadline. Ballots may be dropped off at the Lake Oswego Public Library, 706 4th Street, until 8 p.m. on the day of the election.

For more information, contact Robyn Christie, City Recorder, at 503-675-3984, or visit www.ci.oswego.or.us/main/election%20links.htm.

NEWS YOU CAN USE

Boards and Commissions

If you've ever considered getting involved in local issues, taking on a leadership position in the community, or volunteering your time for a public good, there are several great opportunities available to get started on that track. Consider applying for an opening on a variety of City boards and commissions.

Some positions have specific requirements, but most require only that you live within the City's urban services boundary. View current openings at www.ci.oswego.or.us/boards/Vacancies/current-vacancies.htm or the informational packet at www.ci.oswego.or.us/boards/General%20Information%20Packet.pdf.

If you have questions, visit the Mayor's Office in City Hall, 380 A Avenue, or call 503-635-0215.

Naturescaping for Clean Rivers

Attend a free naturescaping workshop on Saturday, November 18, from 9 to 1 p.m. at the Tigard Public Library (13500 SW Hall Blvd., Tigard). There is no cost, but registration is required by calling 503-797-1842 or email naturescaping@yahoo.com by November 15.

Naturescaping incorporates native plants in relatively natural settings, and can be used in small yards as well as large lots. Native plants are less susceptible to pests and diseases and attract birds and butterflies. Because native plants are adapted to our soil and climate, the plants need relatively little water, fertilizer and care once established. As a result, naturescaping reduces water use, storm water runoff and pollution, saving you time, money and energy while providing habitat for birds and other wildlife.

Child Safety Seat Clinic

Let our trained technicians inspect your child safety seat at the Safety Seat Clinic on November 11, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., at the Main Fire Station (300 B Avenue).

Although most parents who buckle up their children think they are doing it correctly, child safety seat checkups continually show that four out of five people unintentionally make mistakes that could cause injuries or be life threatening. There is no cost for inspections, and cars are taken on a first come, first served basis.

Who to Call About Street Lights

As days become shorter and streets become dark earlier, you may be more apt to notice a street-light that is out, flickering, or on all day. If so, Portland General Electric makes it easy to get it repaired. Find the map and pole numbers on the side of the pole, call 503-228-6322 to report the outage, and they'll fix it. In areas not served by Portland General Electric, call the Maintenance Services Department at 503-635-0280.

Upcoming Service Projects

Join the fight against invasive vegetation at an ivy pull at Brookside/Twin Fir on Sunday, November 12, from 1 to 3 p.m. Dress for the weather and bring gloves and loppers, if possible.

On Saturday, November 18, from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m., you are invited to participate in a restoration work party in the Nettle Creek Natural Area near Atwaters and Andrews Roads. Thanks to a grant from Starbucks, your participation will also raise money for environmental education and the purchase of native plants for the site.

For directions to these locations or for more information about the projects around Lake Oswego, call Annie Bergelin at 503-534-5742.

Innovative Fire Programs Yield State Award For Lake Oswego

At the League of Oregon Cities Annual Conference in Portland, Mayor Judie Hammerstad accepted the Civic Education Award on behalf of the City for its fire safety and education programs. The award was presented to the Lake Oswego Fire Department at the October 17 Council meeting.

The City was honored for programs aimed at protecting high risk populations through the use of residential fire sprinklers, and educating children and families through the use of a mobile fire safety home. Both of these initiatives were funded in large part by a federal "Assistance to Firefighters" grant.

"We are proud of this award and what it represents, but even more importantly we are proud of the positive impact that these two programs will have in our community," said Mayor Judie Hammerstad. "Lives can be saved and injuries prevented through safety enhancements and educational efforts like these."

Considering Water Supply Options

November 14, 7 p.m., City Hall Council Chambers

Can neighboring cities work together to secure reliable drinking water supplies and save money in the process? That question will be explored by City Council members from Lake Oswego and Tigard when they convene a joint study session to discuss a possible future water supply partnership.

One option being considered is a cooperative arrangement that would allow Tigard customers to share Lake Oswego's water. If analysis confirms that Lake Oswego has ample water to meet its future needs, then selling part of the surplus to Tigard could hold down costs for Lake Oswego residents.

Portions of Lake Oswego's water supply system are in need of expansion or replacement. A partnership could spread the costs of such updates over a larger customer base. Another possible advantage is to provide Lake Oswego with an emergency backup water source in case something compromises the Clackamas River water supply.

Citizens seeking more information should contact Joel Komarek, Lake Oswego City Engineer at 503-635-0270 or e-mail jkomarek@ci.oswego.or.us.

Guiding the Clean Streams Plan

Last month, attendees at the Clean Streams Community Forum learned how to lessen their impact on the natural and urban system that captures and conveys surface water within our watershed. Participants weighed in on surface water issues and the Draft Governing Principle that will guide the development of the plan.

Draft Governing Principle

To fully utilize the natural surface water drainage system to convey and dispose of runoff, while protecting and maintaining the natural functions and values of that system.

Draft Program Goal

To cost-effectively implement and maintain a sustainable surface water drainage system to:

- Promote safety and minimize property damage
- Protect and enhance the quality of surface water
- Preserve and enhance fish and wildlife habitats

There are also draft community objectives related to public responsibility, water quality, equity, public expenditures, accountability, jurisdictional coordination, and sustainability. To learn more, go to www.ci.oswego.or.us/engineer/clean_streams/ or contact Kristen Kibler at 503-235-5881.

Lake Interceptor Information and Updates

The upgrade project for the lake interceptor, the community's main sanitary sewer line, is making steady progress on two fronts: 1) cleaning out capacity-limited segments of the pipeline; and 2) advancing alternative designs for the long term.

Debris has been jetted to manholes and removed from over 15,000 feet of capacity-limited pipeline segments. The material is primarily sand, grit and gravel that came through holes in manhole lids and cracks in onshore pipes. Removing the obstructions helps improve flows and capacity.

Phase 1 of the interceptor pre-design evaluated options for a replacement gravity sewer to address capacity and structural deficiencies in the 45-year old in-lake pipeline. The project team is working to develop and evaluate other options. A preferred alternative could be presented as soon as next spring.

If you have comments or questions, contact the Lake Interceptor Hotline at 503-699-7466, or visit the project website at www.ci.oswego.or.us/engineer/OLIS.

Community Planning Day Event

November 8, 7 p.m., at the Lake Oswego Public Library

Learn about local, regional and statewide planning efforts underway with special guests Lake Oswego Mayor Judie Hammerstad and Brian Newman, Metro Councilor from District 2.

Mayor Hammerstad will share information about the Oregon Task Force on Land Use Planning, of which she is a member. The Task Force is conducting a comprehensive review of the Oregon Statewide Planning Program and making recommendations for any needed changes to land-use policy to the 2009 Legislature. The process is called the "Big Look."

Metro Councilor, Brian Newman will discuss the "New Look at Regional Choices," the Metro Council's collaborative effort to find new, creative ways to absorb the arrival of a million new residents in this region in the next 25 years, while preserving the values of our long-term vision.

Both will share information about how these processes may impact Lake Oswego and how citizens can influence the outcome of their work.

For more information, contact Neighborhood Planner Eryn Kehe at 503-675-3730.

Holiday Market
December 2 and 3
10 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Millennium Plaza Park

Experience shopping like never before. A traditional European holiday market awaits you at Millennium Plaza Park. Rain or shine, the plaza will be bustling with activity and open for business.

This event plays host to holiday treats and sweets, crafts, entertainment, gifts and decor for all to enjoy. Browse under our heated canopy, warm your hands by the fire, and enjoy a ride in the horse drawn carriage.

If you are in a group of carolers or play an instrument, you're invited to perform at the Holiday Market. All ages and performance types are welcome. Please call 503-675-3983 to learn more or to schedule a time.

Lake Oswego Reads

Lake Oswego Reads is a community reading month filled with events from book discussions to numerous programs around town, beginning with an unprecedented book giveaway.

Throughout February 2007, readers will be encouraged to discuss its pages, eat its foods, drink its beverages, dance its steps, learn about its history, and connect with other readers.

Thanks to a grant from the Friends of the Library, 800 copies of The Shadow of the Wind, by Carlos Ruiz Zafon, will be given away starting on January 9. Inviting residents to read the same book, including high school students and adults, will foster discussion about themes, values, and important issues from different perspectives. Watch future newsletters for more information about Lake Oswego Reads.

Call for Artists Registry

The Lake Oswego Foundation for the Arts is seeking area artists to be included in its formal Registry of Artists.

All types of artists are encouraged to apply. The Foundation would like a resume, a bio and a sample of the artists' work in the form of pictures (4" x 6") or CDs. Files will be set up for each artist who submits a packet, and the selection committees from the various activities will begin a jury process to establish a formal registry.

Sculptors are encouraged to apply for the Gallery Without Walls 2007 installation. For more information, call 503-675- 3738, or go to www.lofa.org.

A Community Tradition for 42 Years
November 24, 5 p.m., Fifth Street and A Avenue

On the day after Thanksgiving each year, rain or shine, hundreds gather to celebrate the start of the holiday season with the lighting of the giant sequoia tree at Fifth Street and A Avenue.

As the crowd gathers, grab a program and enjoy a free coffee, cocoa, or cider. After caroling by choir members from area high schools, Mayor Judie Hammerstad will count down the lighting of the tree.

The crowd will walk down A Avenue to Millennium Plaza Park for festivities including another tree lighting, free refreshments, live music, and characters to entertain the

As the sky turns dark, the spirited countdown follows, "3-2-1 ..."

Proper Disposal of Leaves

Lake Oswego City Code prohibits blowing, sweeping, raking, or otherwise depositing debris onto City sidewalks or streets.

The City does not have a curbside leaf collection program, so material left on the streets clogs catch basins and causes flooding. Streets drain to local creeks that empty into lakes and rivers throughout the region. Debris such as clippings, leaves, and fertilizer is carried downstream and pollutes our waterways.

To properly dispose of leaves, use compost bins, take leaves to a designated drop off site such as Metro, or use yard debris containers provided by Allied Waste of Lake Oswego. Customers who require additional collection can also use "Kraft" bags, available at most home improvement stores.

If you have questions or need more information about how to properly dispose of yard debris, call the Citizen Information Center at 503-635-0257.

Playwright Competition Underway

The Lake Oswego Foundation for the Arts and the Lakewood Theatre Company announce the all-call for the 2007 Playwright Competition. Now in its fourth year, this is a great opportunity for area playwrights to have their new plays developed and presented as staged readings in a professional theatre environment.

Submitted plays must never have been produced in any completed form including as a staged reading, or recording for distribution on radio, television, or film. Plays may be a one-act or full length and cannot exceed 120 minutes performance time in length.

The winning play or one-act will be produced as part of the Lakewood Theatre Company evening of original plays and performed as a staged reading in 2007. The performance will be cast and directed by the Lakewood Theatre Company with input from the playwright. Sets, costuming, props, lighting, and sound will be provided.

Deadlines for submissions is January 19, 2007, at 4 p.m. Deliver to: Lakewood Theatre Company Play Submissions, PO Box 274, Lake Oswego, OR, 97034.

This competition is sponsored through a partnership of the City of Lake Oswego, the Lake Oswego Foundation for the Arts, and the Lakewood Center for the Arts. Call 503-675-3738 or go online at www.lofa.org for a copy of the submittal guidelines.

kids. Watch as the Lake Oswego Fire Department arrives at the park with our very special "surprise" guest with a white beard and a red suit (you might recognize him). Warm your hands by the fire, and enjoy the evening.

It all begins at the corner of the Safeway parking lot near Bigelow Plaza. Please park at City Hall or in the parking garage at Lake View Village.

Donations of non-perishable, canned food for Oregon Food Bank are encouraged as we kick off the annual collection drive. There will be bins at both locations.

NOVEMBER PROGRAMS FOR ADULTS

Friends Support Library Programs and Services

The Friends of the Library have generously awarded a new round of nine grants totaling $26,571. The Friends manage the Booktique used book store in Mercantile Medical Plaza. Most of the proceeds from sales benefit the Library, helping enhance programs and services. During the past 15 years, the store has earned over $910,000 for the Library.

For more information about the Friends of the Library or the Booktique, visit the Library's website at www.ci.oswego.or.us/library/friends/about.htm.

Presenting Dan Balmer

Tuesday, November 7, at 7 p.m.

Described by the Los Angeles Times, as "the model of what a contemporary guitarist should be," Dan has performed with an impressive line of talented musicians including Andy Narell, Jim Pepper, David Friesen, Airto, Joey DeFrancisco, and the late Red Mitchell. He is best known for his collaboration with keyboardist Tom Grant, with whom he toured and recorded for over ten years.

Place and History: In Search of the Pacific Northwest
Tuesday, November 21, at 7 p.m.

The Library is pleased to sponsor an Oregon Chautauqua program by William G. Robbins entitled Place and History: In Search of the Pacific Northwest. This free, public program is funded by the Oregon Council for the Humanities (OCH).

William Robbins suggests that the interplay of a number of forces helps to define our understanding of place. In this program he discusses the complex relationships between geography and history-the configurations of landscapes, topographical features, and climactic conditions.

NOVEMBER PROGRAMS FOR CHILDREN

Children's Storytimes

Families are invited to attend storytimes, which are special reading adventures tailored for a range of ages. The storytime schedule is as follows:

Baby Storytime (birth through 18 months)

Tuesdays at 11:45 a.m.

Toddler Storytime (19 months to three years old)

Wednesdays at 10:30 a.m.

Preschool children ages three to five are invited to "Make a Festive Pine Cone Turkey." Materials are provided and no sign up is required.

NOVEMBER PROGRAMS FOR TEENS

Guitar Hero Gaming Competition

Thursday, November 9, from 2 to 4 p.m.

Students in grades 7-12 are invited to a Guitar Hero video game competition. Guitar Hero participants test their skill at playing songs and compete for prizes. Gamers at all skill levels, as well as spectators, are welcome to join the fun.

Knitting for Man's Best Friend

November, 16, 30, and December 14, from 4 to 5 p.m.

Knitting is for the dogs, literally, in these learn-to-knit classes for students in grades 7-12. Cheryl Huffman of Molehill Farm will instruct participants on how to knit squares and assemble them to make one small and one large dog blanket. The creations will be donated to Clackamas County Dog Services. Participants need to bring size 8 knitting needles, preferably the 9-inch length.

High School Art Show

The Library is hosting a student art show throughout November on the main floor. The display includes creations by 9th to 12th grade students at Lake Oswego High School's classes of Visual Art and Design, Drawing and Painting, Watercolor/Acrylic, Mixed Media, Digital Photograph, and AP Art Studio. Lake Oswego High School art teacher Katie Brink is mounting the display.
