

Message to the Community on the Derek Chauvin Verdict

Yesterday's verdict reflects a justice system which held a law enforcement officer accountable for their actions. No one should be above the law. The many good men and women who wear their badges with honor, integrity, and compassion stand with our communities, with an ache in our hearts and a deep understanding that words are not enough. The Police Chiefs of Clackamas County are committed to strengthening relationships with the communities we serve through listening, training, transparency, and accountability.
